focusing on one distinctive element of the early renaissance reading public boys who studied latin grammar in florence paul f gehl sheds new light on the history of schooling in the west far from advancing the cause of humanism he shows the elementary grammar masters of fourteenth century florence worked against it in the name of morality leon battista alberti 1404 1472 was the most versatile humanist of the fifteenth century author of numerous compositions in both latin and italian and a groundbreaking theorist of painting sculpture and architecture his latin writings owe much to the model of petrarch 1304 1374 the famed poet of the italian canzoniere but also a prolific author of latin epistles biographies and poems that sparked the revival of classical culture in the early italian renaissance the essays collected here reflect some thirty years of research into these pioneers of humanism and offer important insights into forms of renaissance self fashioning such as allegory and autobiography
